Customised Property Copywriting

BeWrite Real-Estate Copywriters are experts in writing powerful and interesting property descriptions without the fluff to market residential and commercial properties. Don't settle for poor quality copy that fails to present your property in the best light. Get it right EVERY TIME!

BeWrite will customise a copywriting solution to suit your Real Estate Agency needs and deliver the right message to perfectly highlight your property.

Fixed Price Services or Customised Options

BeWrite copywriters will ensure the words used to present each listed property are accurate, clearly focused and designed to get results. All work is guaranteed for delivery within a 48 hour turn-around (or less) from either site visit completion, or receipt of required images and information from the listing agent.

"We used to write our own copy, but found the process took the focus away from our sales reps with them wasting too much time on advertising writing, rather than property sales. Bevan and the BeWrite team write consistent and powerful copy that is perfect for our local market and gives our ads the best chance to sell. There is never an issue with re-writing or changing content to match our needs. Having someone else we can trust to do the job right every time means that the whole sales team now has more time and energy to stay focussed on what matters most to us, property sales."

Matt Carpenter, Associate Director, Starr Partners Pemulwuy.

"It was a very simple and stress free process. I sent the property photography and the main points we needed to include, the BeWrite copywriter made a call to our vendor (as directed by me) to discuss the important features with her, and less than 24 hours later they sent me the complete copy for Internet, print advertising, brochures, editorials. I simply passed it to the sales support staff to implement. It was so simple and easy, freeing up my time for the important things a Real Estate Agent should be doing which are listing, selling and negotiating. Does your agency do a weekly inspection of new listings with your sales people in attendance?

If you do, then having your property copywriter in attendance with the team is a huge advantage. A property copywriter can visit each newly listed property and get the important points and facets directly from the property and the listing agent.

This will guarantee perfect property copy is delivered each time. Having an additional team member on-site to perform property copywriting also reflects well on your agency when vendors see that you are serious about professionally marketing their property.

Pricing from only $100 per property for weekly van attendance, with written property copy (for all properties visited that week) typically delivered within 48 hours of van completion.

All copy guaranteed with unlimited re-writes until your property is sold!
